Continued

 Rambo: First Blood, Part II (R): Sylvester Stallone is back in this sequel which deals with tough, highly trained Vietnam War veteran John Rambo's efforts to find missing prisoners of war in Vietnam. 1 hour, 33 minutes. Semoran Twin.

 Silverado (PG-13): Directed by Lawrence Kasdan (The Big Chill), this Western stars Kevin Kline, Scott Glenn, Rosanna Arquette and John Cleese. 2 hours, 15 minutes. 21st Century Theater Lounge.

* Teen Wolf (PG): Michael J. Fox stars as a friendly high school werewolf. 1 hour, 28 minutes. Cinema Pub, Bijou Entertainment Theater.

Texas Chainsaw Massacre (R): This slasher film directed by Tobe Hooper started a slew of bloody imitators. Opens Friday at 21st Century Theater Lounge.

* Witness (R): On his first visit to a big city, an Amish boy named Samuel sees a drug-related murder. The action that follows involves his mother (Kelly McGillis) and a cop (Harrison Ford). 1 hour, 52 minutes. Ends today at 21st Century Theater Lounge.

SPECIAL SHOWINGS

Beyond the Walls (Israel, 1984): A Venice Film Festival winner and Academy Award nominee, this sometimes violent film is set in a Middle Eastern prison. Opens Monday at Enzian Theater.

Comedy Night: Selected comedy shorts star Buster Keaton, Charlie Chaplin, Abbott and Costello, Laurel and Hardy and Our Gang. 1 hour, 44 minutes. Free showing at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Concert Hall, Seminole Community College, Sanford.

Jour de Fete (France, 1949): In Jacques Tati's debut as director and comic mime, Tati plays a postman who tries to modernize mail delivery in a small town, but runs afoul of a Bastille Day celebration. Opens Saturday at 21st Century Theater Lounge.

Moonlighting (Britain, 1982): In this ironic study of loneliness, Polish men working illegally in London learn martial law has been imposed on their homeland. Free showing at 7 p.m. Thursday in Lecture Auditorium, Melbourne campus, Brevard Community College.

The Mummy (U.S., 1932): Boris Karloff stars as the 3,000-year-old Egyptian who is brought back to life by the reincarnation of the princess he loved. 1 hour, 12 minutes. Ends today at Enzian Theater.

Playtime (France, 1967): A slapstick comedy by Jacques Tati in which Tati's famous M. Hulot character wanders through an ultramodern Paris. Showing at 7:30 p.m. next Sunday in Bush Science Center Auditorium, Rollins College, Winter Park.

Streetwise (1984): Director Martin Bell's gritty documentary is about the harsh realities of life for run-aways, narrated by the children themselves. Opens Monday at Enzian Theater.

Un Chien Andalou (France, 1928): Surrealist painter Salvador Dali teamed with filmmaker Luis Bunuel to produce this disturbing assemblage of images drawn from the subconscious. 16 minutes. Ends today at Enzian Theater.

The War of the Worlds (U.S., 1953): H.G. Well's science fiction classic won an Oscar for special effects. 1 hour, 25 minutes. Ends today at Enzian Theater.

(Most foreign-language movies shown in Central Florida are presented in subtitled versions, unless otherwise noted. To check on a specific film, phone the theater or organization that is presenting it.) □
